

Sovereign Debt and the IMF: The Case of Russia

Book talk w/ Martin Gilman Moderated by David Singer

Tues, Feb 22, 2011 | 3:00p - 4:30p
MIT Bldg E53-482

About the speakers

Martin Gilman is Professor of Economics at the National Research University-Higher School of Economics and the Director of its Centre for Advanced Studies, in conjunction with the New Economic School, in Moscow. Previously he was with the International Monetary Fund for 24 years where he was assistant director in the IMF's policy department. He is the author of the recent book, No Precedent, No Plan: Inside Russia's 1998 Default, published by MIT Press.

David Andrew Singer is an Associate Professor of Political Science at MIT. Professor Singer studies international political economy, with a focus on international financial regulation, the influence of global capital flows on government policymaking, international institutions and governance, and the political economy of central banking. He is the author of Regulating Capital: Setting Standards for the International Financial System (Cornell University Press, 2007).